INTRODUCTORY.

It is a cause of gratitude that, notwithstanding the large addition to our current expenses by the increase necessary to our teaching force and traveling expenses, yet we have been able to meet all our obligations. Friends having generously contributed to the work, the Annual Conferences patronizing our schools having, in the aggregate, increased their collections, the income from students fees having been larger because of the increase in our attendance, and peace and earnest attention to work, on the part of students and teachers, have contributed to make the school year, just closing, one of satisfactory advancement.

Our school at Lynchburg just begun last year will, with a fine dormitory for girls, be ready for school work in October at the beginning of the school year. The employment of four more teachers for this school will add largely to our current expenses, and make it necessary that our friends shall be more liberal than ever before.

A new dormitory, to be known as the Eliza F. Smith Home, through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Smith, of Massachusetts, in memory of their deceased daughter, will be completed this Summer, at Princess Anne, at a cost of $2,500. This will furnish ample and beautiful accommodations for the girl students at that point, and will perpetuate the grateful memory of Eliza F. Smith for generations to come. The Industrial Department has made progress at Princess Anne, and good work is being accomplished by the students. We need buildings to house these industries so as to work to the best advantage. Our expanding work gives promise of a splendid future.

At Morgan College we need a dormitory for girls, as parents are unwilling to trust their children in a great city without the direct supervision of the government of the school. We could quadruple the number of girls attending the school if we had accommodations for them of this character. As we have no industrial department at Morgan College we greatly need some gymnastic facilities that our boys may take some physical exercise under the supervision of the school. We respectfully suggest that each Pastor in the Washington and Delaware Conferences begin at once a persistent campaign to secure students for these different schools.

F. J. WAGNER, President.

AGRICULTURE.

Practical Farming and Gardening have been taught forty (40) young men during the year with satisfactory results in each. Valuable experiments in manure and Commercial Fertilizers as applied to the growing of cereals, grass, vegetables and small fruits, have been made, and while the results were not quite so profitable owing to the long continued drought, yet the instruction and practice were no less beneficial to the students.

Facilities for instruction and practice, embracing implements, stock, and material, have been added from time to time, until this department has been fairly well equipped. The total area of the farm is 121 acres, 90 of which is arable, and admirably adapted to grain growing and the cultivation of vegetables and fruits. For several years prior to the purchase made by the Academy, the farm had been tenanted to inexperienced farmers, and neglected buildings, dilapidated fences, closed drains, and fields bare of grass, was the result. And while considerable improvement on all lines, has been made, yet better fences, and drainage, and a suitable barn for stock and grain, may be regarded among the imperative needs of this department. As a means of encouragement and assistance to students in remaining to the close of the school year, they have been employed at fair compensation to do all additional labor, that could not be completed during the time allotted for instruction. The increasing number of applications for assistance, makes a fund, from which students might be aided a very necessary provision.

BLACKSMITHING.

In this department there has been increasing interest from the first, and while the very nature of blacksmithing may seem to make it undesirable for the "cultured," yet the six (6) young men who received training in this trade average higher in scholarship than those in any other industry.

Horseshoeing, making chains, tools, hooks, rings, staples, repairing farming implements, ironing new implements, tempering, welding, etc., has been the character of work done, which has been a great saving of expense to the farm. Additional tools and material have been added, and marked improvement made all around.

BRICKLAYING.

The instruction in this department has been equally profitable to both the students and the Institution. The erection of two brick buildings, a laundry and oil house, has given employment to eight (8) young men who have made sufficient progress in the art, as to enable them to do much extra work for which they received fair wages. Owing to the extremely cold weather during the winter months, progress in this line has been retarded, but the permanent work on buildings bears evidence of interest and skill. Here, as in all other lines, the need of a suitable building for housing work and workmen from severe weather is sadly felt.

CARPENTRY.

Nine (9) young men in this department have done good work for themselves as well as for the Academy. The wood work on the laundry and oil house, embracing the making of window frames, roofing, laying of floor, etc., has furnished practical and profitable instruction for students, thus affording them assistance, and saving considerable expense to the school. The character of the shop work has been the construction of farming implements, tables, benches, ironing boards, step ladders, tool boxes, and repairing plows, wagons, furniture, etc. Additional tools and material have been purchased as needed, until a fair supply is now on hand. A much larger building for this department would be a great advantage.

SHOEMAKING.

The progress in this department has been highly satisfactory. Supplies as needed have been added, and good work done all around. Considerable repairing and some new work have furnished instruction and practice for (9) young men who as a rule have been much interested. Specimens of the work in this department have been inspected by competent judges, and pronounced first-rate. The best interests of the work here as elsewhere, require a widening of borders, in order that the demands of another year may be fully met.

TAILORING.

Eight (8) young men have received some training in this department, but the results have not been quite as satisfactory as in other trades. Irregular lessons caused by the poor health of the foreman may be regarded as sufficient reason for some lack of progress. Additions in supplies have been made during the year, and quite a good deal of repairing and some new work has been done.

HOUSEHOLD DEPARTMENT.

The work of this department grows more important every year. The applications for young women, who are competent to take charge of the affairs of a well regulated home, are more numerous than can be supplied. All the young women receive instruction in sewing, baking, cooking, laundrying and the general proprieties of housekeeping. Supplies, especially for the sewing department, have been added, and the character of work done shows decided progress.

For the sake of economy and uniformity in dress, the girls were required to appear at Commencement in white dresses made by their own hands. Arrangements for enlarging and improving the facilities for work in this department have been made, and the prospects for another year are especially bright.

THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

METHODS AND MEANS.

A standard text-book is made the basis of instruction in each branch of this department. All the students—those pursuing the course by Correspondence as well as those attending the classes at the College—must study the text books assigned, master the subjects as thus presented, and pass a thorough examination thereon. Nevertheless, while insisting upon the mastery of each subject as treated with scientific system and fullness in the “text-book-in-chief” of each branch, the Faculty will steadfastly discourage all mere book memorizing; and, along with the catechetical method, lectures will be given, class conversations will be conducted, the fascinations of the "Inductive Method" will be employed, the blackboard will be in constant use, topics for short essays will be assigned the students, outlines and abstracts of selected portions of the books studied or read, sermons or sermon-plans will be required, and such other things be done to secure freshness and variety as are consistent with our aim: an accurate and thorough knowledge of each subject as treated in the text book adopted.

The students will be expected to preach at stated times, and—under the direction of the Faculty and their respective Pastors—to engage in such Church work as will not in anywise interfere with College duties, and yet will afford them useful drill, while preserving and intensifying real sympathy with the great work for which they are fitting.

At the beginning of every term each Correspondence Student will be furnished with a full outline of the work of the term, containing references to text-books, brief study hints, and review questions and topics. All examinations are held at the College on any day mentioned in the Calendar.

LOCATION.

The College is on the corner of Fulton and Edmondson Avenues, one of the highest and healthiest portions of Baltimore City. Students arriving by the B. & O. R. R. will find a street car inside the Camden Station, which will take them to the corner of Howard and Franklin streets, where they can obtain a free transfer ticket to the Edmondson avenue car which will take them to the College building. Those arriving by other roads at Union Station, can walk to the corner of Maryland avenue and Oliver street, take a green car, and obtain a transfer to the Edmondson avenue line at the corner of Howard and Franklin streets (Trunks may be left at the Station, and the teachers will inform parties how to have them delivered cheaply.)

The Princess Anne Academy is located at Princess Anne, Md., on the line of the New York and Norfolk Railroad. Principal B. O. Bird will meet students at the Station if notified of the time of arrival.

The Virginia Collegiate and Industrial Institute is located at Lynchburg, Va., and crowns a hill affording an outlook upon beautiful natural scenery It stands about a mile from the city, and in sight of the "Peaks of Otter." Every accommodation will be of the highest order. The buildings will be heated with hot water and lighted with gas manufactured expressly for the School. All information needed can be obtained by writing to Professor Frank Trigg, Lynchburg, Va. Catalogues will be gladly sent to any who may desire information by writing either to the President or the Principals.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

The students are required to attend public worship twice on the Lord's Day at such churches as they, their parents or guardians may designate.

Parents or guardians of children under age are expected to see that they attend Sabbath school. Upon the part of mature students such attendance is voluntary.

GOVERNMENT OF THE SCHOOL.

When an applicant has been admitted to any of the schools of this institution that applicant must agree to conform strictly to the rules of the same.

At the close of each term, and if necessary oftener, reports of attendance to school duties and of deportment will be made to each student of legal age, and to parents or guardians of minors.

Release from school duties can be granted by the President of the College and the Principals of the Branch Schools only, and all final discipline must be by vote of the Faculty.

Profanity, and the use of tobacco and intoxicating drinks are absolutely prohibited, and students found using them will be dismissed from the schools. Falsehood and theft will be dealt with in like manner.

NEEDY STUDENTS' FUND

The necessity for such a fund lies in the fact that our students are poor, and often have not money enough to meet even the small amount needed for the school year. Hence many are obliged to leave before the year closes, thus breaking up their work and greatly hindering their advancement.

Applications are frequently made by deserving young men and women for a little help to enable them to finish the work of the school year.

We have the nucleus of such a fund, amounting to $200, to be used at Princess Anne and Morgan College. This will be made available during the coming year in small loans.

We would like to establish five scholarships, of $500 each, for this purpose. Who will help us in this important and needy work?

Conditions on which the Students can be helped from this Fund — The applicant must be a member of some Protestant Church, and must maintain a good character. Must intend to graduate in some Course. Must have been in the schools at least one full year. Must pass all examinations in a satisfactory manner. Must give a personal note endorsed satisfactorily for the amount loaned. Cannot be aided to more than $20 in any one year.

LIBRARY.

Some additions by purchase and gift have been made to our Library during the past year. Miss Lena Little, of Laurel, Md., has given us a fresh and valuable donation. We need recent histories, ennobling fiction, popular scientific works, books on sociology, biology, biography and scientific investigation.

NATURAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT.

As we are reaching the advanced classes in the College Course we more deeply than ever feel our need of suitable apparatus to illustrate laws operative in the realm of matter. At least $500 are needed to equip this department, that our students may be properly aided in their investigations of the facts of the natural world, and gain a clearer conception of the works of God

SOCIETIES.

There are four literary societies in the College.

The Morgan College Literary Association conducts its exercises publicly and generally by the students. The work of the association has been thorough, popular and healthful. Addresses have been delivered by representatives of the legal and clerical profession, and by representative business men of the city. Living questions have been discussed with marked ability.

A debating society of young men has been in successful operation for three years. The young ladies of the upper class have a "Phyllis Wheatley Literary Society," and the Theological students a Chautauqua Circle. Each organization closed the year in healthy condition, and with good results.
